

Rafik Amrane.

Chief Operations Officer.

“Continuously challenging ourselves is ingrained in our DNA, pushing us towards our company vision.”

Rafik Amrane is in charge of global sourcing, manufacturing, quality and supply activities with a network of 13 best-in-class manufacturing sites.

Together with a team of 5000+ passionate professionals across the world, he is committed to serving Opella’s loved brands to consumers.

An athlete and former Olympian rower, he knows all too well the thrill of breaking boundaries. Rafik applies this winning mindset to implementing strategic, collaborative resource utilization and cutting-edge technologies, to optimize every stage of manufacturing and supply operations.

His experience spans the human and animal health, automotive, and banking sectors, having previously held strategic and operations roles at Toyota Motor Manufacturing and Merial, before joining Opella in 2017. Rafik has also driven many large-scale performance transformations in various industries at McKinsey&Co.

He has travelled extensively and has spent time working in Brazil, Portugal, and Japan. As well as his native French, Rafik speaks English, Portuguese and Spanish fluently.
