

Adeline Le Franc.

Chief Financial Officer.

“Embrace the unexpected; the best opportunities often come wrapped in surprises.”

Adeline is a passionate finance leader and loves being a co-pilot in the Opella business, driving value creation, and influencing processes to achieve impactful results that demonstrate the power of self-care.

She joined Opella in 2020, following nearly 25 years building her career in Commercial Operations, R&D, and Manufacturing Finance roles at Sanofi.

Being a Paris resident for most of her life, Adeline embraces working and exploring in multiple cultures and spent a few years of her career in Tokyo.

These traits of courage and curiosity transcend into her leadership style, and she prides herself on empowering people to be their best and authentic selves.

Adeline’s professional interest in the world of healthcare began at ESSEC Business School.

Outside of work, she enjoys hiking and discovering beautiful views.
