Carol-Ann Stewart.

"Doing well and doing good are not mutually exclusive."

This belief guides Carol-Ann in her role leading the diverse AMEA Region (Asia Pacific, Middle East, Africa) at Opella, having previously led Latin America. The power of people and purpose for performance is her mantra; she believes that you can be successful as a company, and as a person, by taking actions that benefit others. Having worked in Consumer Healthcare for most of her career, she remains energized by the importance of self-care and is truly inspired by Opella's mission to make it as simple as it should be.

Prior to Opella, Carol-Ann spent more than 20 years at GSK, staring her career at SmithKline Beecham in Sales, before progressing through Marketing, Business Development and General Management roles in multiple countries (UK, Hong Kong, Australia, Japan, China, Poland, Colombia, Panama and Singapore).
